

This is a detailed black and white map of a village area, likely in the Cotswolds. A large triangular field, outlined in red, is the central feature and is labeled "Playing Fields". To the left of this field are railway tracks and a "Foot Bridge". Below the field, there are several buildings and areas labeled: "Lavender Lodge", "Old School", "Walnut Fields", "Upper Ma", "Fitzma's Manor Surgery", and "Hogsmill River". A compass rose is located in the top left corner, and a scale bar (0m to 75m) is in the bottom left corner. The map also shows various other features like "Lower Mill", "Hogsmill River", "Upper Mill", "Fitzma's Manor Surgery", "Hogsmill River", "Walnut Fields", "Lavender Lodge", "Old School", "Paddy Court", "Lavender Lodge", "Old School", "Walnut Fields", "Upper Ma", "Fitzma's Manor Surgery", and "Hogsmill River".
